Beschreibung

After years of enological research, the Pisoni family managed to develop a vinification method that does not require the use of added sulfites but guarantees great quality wine. Codecce takes its name from the homonymous vineyard on the hill of San Siro, perfect for the cultivation of white berried grapes which reach the perfect level of maturation and aromatic concentration. It is a wine with a full, mature and exotic fragrance, and a soft but fresh and crunchy taste: a perfect representation of Valle dei Laghi, an alpine territory with a mediterranean climate.
